WORLD SERIES GAME in WASHINGTON SUNDAY

American League Park---2 P. M.

Free Admission as Guests of

The Washington Times
THE NATIONAL DAILY

The success of the "Pantomime World Series" enacted by two marine teams this week at American League Park under the auspices of The Washington Times has been so great that this newspaper is anxious for all of its readers to see it. Over 8,000 people attended the opening game, and an even larger crowd the second game, and it was pronounced a decided success and novelty—much better than the reproduction of the World Series on an Electric Board—also more comfortable with a comfortable seat at the Ball Park.

The Times realizes that thousands of its readers working for the Government and elsewhere are unable to attend the "world series" on a week day, but will be able to do so Sunday—and bring their entire family with them.

The Ball Park was leased for a game between the LADIES' INTERNATIONAL SOCCER TEAM, of Preston, England, and selected players from the WASHINGTON SOCCER CLUB this Sunday. The Washington Times, not wanting to disappoint any of its readers, now that its experiment in staging a "Pantomime World Series" is a pronounced success, has arranged to pay these teams to release the Ball Park during the hours of the World Series game in New York.

THE WASHINGTON TIMES IS STANDING ALL THE EXPENSE and although the cost will be great to secure the Ball

Park for its readers Sunday, THERE WILL NOT BE ANY ADMISSION CHARGE—except in good will.

The Sunday game also necessitates a SPECIAL WIRE SERVICE from THE NEW YORK PARK to THE WASHINGTON PARK, involving additional expense to this newspaper. The Times will feel amply rewarded if you and all your friends attend and enjoy the afternoon.

The gates will be open at 1:15 p. m. SUNDAY.

As an additional attraction the U. S. Navy Band of 60 pieces, which has been furnishing the music week days, will come as an orchestra Sunday and render a special concert. Charles Benter, composer of The Washington Times march, will be the conductor.

It will be impossible to secure the Ball Park Saturday, because of previous arrangements for a college football game. Score by innings will be posted at the park during the football game for the benefit of Times readers attending. The score will also be posted in front of The Washington Times building.

The Washington Times "Pantomime World Series" (with actual players) will be continued at the ball park Monday and every day until the end of the World Series in New York.

COME ONE, COME ALL. THE LARGER THE CROWD THE GREATER OUR REWARD.
